Q2 Does the draft guidance contain the right level of detail?

☒ Yes

☐ No

☐ Unsure / don't know

If no or unsure/don't know, in what areas should there be more detail within the draft guidance?

Q3 Does the draft guidance contain enough examples?

☒ Yes

☐ No

☐ Unsure / don't know

If no or unsure/don't know, please provide any examples that think should be included in the draft guidance.

Q4 We have found that data protection professionals often struggle with applying and defining 'manifestly unfounded or excessive' subject access requests. We would like to include a wide range of examples from a variety of sectors to help you. Please provide some examples of manifestly unfounded and excessive requests below (if applicable).

An individual repeatedly contacts the organisation via email (e.g. 60 emails per day) as well as lengthy phone calls and voicemails to multiple recipients within the organisation. This in itself causes a lot of additional work in responding to the repeated issues raised. But when the individual subsequently submits a SAR and the request involves hundreds of hours retrieving audio phone calls and complaints correspondence, emails etc and where the purpose of the request is deemed without real purpose.

Q5 On a scale of 1-5 how useful is the draft guidance?

1 - Not at all useful	2 – Slightly useful	3 – Moderately useful	4 – Very useful	5 – Extremely useful
